

INSTALLATION

RHB hair is approximately 0.5 - 1 inch longer than the stated length, therefore it is recommended you trim the ends of the hair to remove any split ends. This is especially necessary when long lengths are worn to ensure your hair looks thick and healthy look from top to bottom.

Wefts should be sealed to minimise shedding and to ensure longevity of your hair extensions.

Avoid stitching through the weft and instead stitch under the weft. Stitching through the weft can loosen the weft and may lead to shedding.

Avoid cutting the weft as much as possible and instead bend. If the weft is cut and the ends are not sealed, this may lead to shedding.

GENERAL MAINTENENCE

RHB hair does not require a lot of product. Using too much product tends to weigh down the hair.

Avoid the use of alcohol based products such as spritz, as these products dry out the hair.

Avoid using gel, hair grease and oil sheen.

Applying high levels of heat to the hair can lead to dryness and split ends which leads to breakage. Heat protectant should be used before any heat is applied.

Hair should be washed and conditioned regularly using sulphate free products to maintain the softness of the hair and ensure longevity. Hair must be detangled before washing.

Air drying is recommended since blow drying removes the curl pattern.

Plait, rod, twist or pin up hair and cover with a satin cap or scarf before bed. Sleeping with hair uncovered may lead to dry, brittle ends.

DYEING & OR BLEACHING

RHB strongly recommends that all chemical processing be performed by a professional.

Bleaching hair can damage and change the texture of the hair if it is over processed. This would result in dry, brittle hair that tangles.

When bleaching, the highest developer used should be a volume 20. When your hair is bleached, you must ensure it is treated on a regular basis to avoid damage to the hair.

When dyeing your hair, semi-permanent dyes are recommended.

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS:

Swimming in chlorinated or sea water can be damaging to the hair. Hair should be washed afterwards.

MAINTENANCE BY HAIR TYPE

WAVY HAIR

All our wavy hair can be flat ironed or curled for extra waves.

Daily Maintenance:

Hair should be combed with a wide tooth comb or brushed with a paddle brush. Do not tug or pull hair because this may loosen the weft and cause shedding.

Apply a small amount of oil evenly through the hair (section the hair and apply the oil to each section for full coverage).

For more defined waves, spray hair with water until damp and apply a small amount of oil evenly through the hair. Scrunch hair until waves are formed.

Hair should be washed and conditioned at least once every 2 weeks or as needed.

CURLY HAIR

All our curly hair can be flat ironed straight. It is recommended to use the Remington Wet2Straight flat iron to straighten the hair. Our curly hair can also be curled to achieve different curl patterns.

Hair should be combed with a wide tooth comb. Do not tug or pull hair because this may loosen the weft and cause shedding.

Spray hair with water until damp and apply a small amount of product evenly through the hair (section the hair and apply the product to each section for full coverage). Scrunch hair until curls are formed.

Let hair dry before running fingers through hair or manipulating curls as this may cause the hair to frizz.

Hair should be washed and conditioned at least once a week or as needed.
